Sarmed for a second consecutive year received the "Silver Recognition Level" distinction from EcoVadis for its corporate social responsibility performance.

EcoVadis is an international platform that allows companies to monitor the sustainability performance of their suppliers. Its methodology covers over 30,000 suppliers annually from 190 sectors and 150 countries.

The system analyzes and evaluates the performance of the company in four main categories: Environment, Labor and Human Rights, Fair Business Practices and Sustainable Procurement.

The EcoVadis rating ranked Sarmed in the top 15% of companies of the same sector worldwide with an improved score compared to 2018, while in all 4 categories the performance of Sarmed was above the industry average.

This result is recognition and re-confirmation of Sarmed's commitment to the ethical and socially sustainable provision of services, which is captured through four main pillars:

- Working Conditions and Standards
- Health and Safety
- Business Practice and Integrity
- Environment

These pillars are reflected not only in this certification but also in the way the company operates by incorporating them into the Integrated Management System.
