The largest Liquefied Natural Gas (LNG) bunkering vessel, a ship capable of taking LNG from a ground station and refuel another ship with it, has just been inaugurated thanks to €11.6 million in support from the CEF Transport funding programme.

The largest LNG bunkering vessel

The Gas Agility was loaded for the first time with 18,600 m³ of the fuel on 28 April at the Port of Dunkirk's LNG terminal in France and immediately refuelled the CMA Jacques Saadé container ship

LNG plays a key role in the decarbonisation of the maritime sector as it offers a reduced environmental impact in comparison to traditional fuels such as diesel/heavy oil.
